

Copyright 2006 Dolan Media Newswires
The Journal Record (Oklahoma City, OK)

October 5, 2006 Thursday

Journal Record Staff

University of Tulsa College of Law to sponsor Jewish law lecture series

October 9, 2006

The University of Tulsa College of Law has scheduled a lecture series on Jewish law and tradition. In conjunction with the series, a collection of Jewish legal and scholarly texts will be on display through the academic year at the law school's Maybee Legal Information Center. The Lillie Goldstein Judaica Collection is a traveling library of more than 300 titles in over 400 volumes in both Hebrew and English.

The collection is on loan from the Touro College Jacob D. Fuchsberg Law Center. "TU is offering this unique collection of books and lectures to raise public awareness of Jewish legal thought and learning within a scholarly framework," said Robert Butkin, dean of the TU Law School. "In addition, for the first time in our law school's history, a course in Jewish law will be offered this spring." Beth Mobley will be the first lecturer at 11 a.m. Oct. 20 in the Sharp Memorial Chapel on the TU campus. Mobley is the associate director of the Gould Law Library at the Touro College Jacob D. Fuchsberg Law Center in Central Islip, N.Y.

Other lecturers scheduled in the series include David R. Dow presenting "America's Prophets: The Obligation of Supreme Court Justices to Say 'No'" on Nov. 15; Mark E. Washofsky, "Jewish Law, Bioethics and Stem Cell Research," Jan. 18; Samuel J. Levine, "Taking Ethical Obligations Seriously: A Look at American Codes of Professional Responsibility Through a Perspective of Jewish Law and Ethics," Feb. 14; and Elliot N. Dorff, "Modern Understandings of Jewish Law," March 5.

The Lillie Goldstein Judaica Collection may be used by the public. The five lectures in the Jewish Law series are free and open to the public. More information is available by calling Anita Corning at (918) 631-2560 or at www.law.utulsa.edu/jewishlaw.

UNIVERSITY OF TULSA TO SPONSOR JEWISH LAW LECTURE SERIES US States News October 9, 2006 Monday